Saint Francis is beginning its seventy-third year in the service of Joliet’s young women. As our nation sends out a clarion call for sacrifice in the cause of national defense, the Sisters of Saint Francis dedicate themselves anew to the education of youth. Never in the history of America has there been greater need of inculcating in young men and women strong Christian principles; never has America needed more a glorious band of women trained in mind, in body, and in soul to inspire, to follow or to lead, in the present conflict for God and country.

Not only is the Saint Francis student taught that a chaotic world must return to God and the things of God if it is to secure the peace it craves, but she is brought daily in contact with the Source of All Good and the Seat of All Wisdom. Here she knows the courage to do that things first — to live according to the principles she has learned.
