MAJOR: Spanish with minors in English and philosophy. She was St. Francis’ first student majoring in Spanish.

DORM LIFE: She and five other nuns shared a dorm above the auditorium and could hear the students rehearsing for plays, sometimes interrupting their sleep.

GRADUATED: 1945

BECAME: A high school teacher in Ohio.

HER RETURN: In 1959 she was reassigned to teach at the university. She was nervous to move to the college level since her experience was teaching high school students.

KNACK FOR NAMES: She can recall all the names of the St. Francis teachers and administrators during her tenure at the university.
